Student FAQs
For the week 2-8 March

Are all the University campuses open?
Yes, they are all open, including the Veterinary Medicine campus in Lodi. All administrative offices are regularly open. Only in-class teaching activities are suspended.

How do I know if my classes are delivered online?
Access Ariel and check out your programme, or go to your degree programme website, where you can find notices from your teachers. For urgent matters, please email dirse@unimi.it. You can also contact your degree programme tutors (contact details on the degree programme website).

Are student registrars open?
Front desks are open in compliance with statutory provisions, ministerial directives and the rules on public health and safety established by competent authorities. Follow updates on unimi.it.

What precautions should I take in front offices?
Please use the hand sanitizer dispensers that you will find in front offices. For details on the use of soap and sanitizing solutions, please refer to the website of the Ministry of Health.

Are libraries and study rooms open?
Some libraries are open, in compliance with minimum health and safety requirements provided by the authorities. View the list of open libraries here: http://www.sba.unimi.it/

Is it possible to do thesis work in laboratories?
You can do thesis work in a laboratory upon agreement with your coordinator.

Are student collaborations running?
No, they are suspended until the resumption of in-class teaching activities.

I had an exam scheduled this week, what should I do?
Interim exams scheduled during the suspension period of in-class teaching activities will be rescheduled as soon as possible.

Will the academic schedule be extended?

Yes, it may be extended until 3 July, as required by academic boards.

Are Master and postgraduate courses held online?

We are organizing online classes: please contact your course coordinator by email for specific information.

When will final exams resume?

Final exams will be rescheduled from 9 March. Depending on how the situation will evolve, they may be held in class or online.

Are vocational activities suspended?

Vocational activities for Bachelor’s and Master’s degree programmes in the healthcare area and single-cycle degree programmes in Medicine and Dentistry are suspended.

Are internships also suspended?

Internships underway at external institutions and companies are not suspended, save as otherwise provided for company-specific situations and/or quarantined areas.

Should students of postgraduate medical/healthcare schools carry on their activities in hospitals?

Yes, their contribution is vital at this stage. However, we recommend trainees to strictly follow all the indications that will be provided from time to time by their hospital’s Chief Medical Officer.

Can research fellows and researchers carry on laboratory activities?

Research fellows and researchers can attend the University premises, just as teaching, technical, administrative and library staff, to carry out their research activities if required by their supervisor.
